Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Saturday 12 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mostly dry, bight and very warm on Sunday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Western, central and the north become mostly cloudy with patchy drizzle over hills and coasts, more persistent rain for Shetland later. Elsewhere dry with late sunny then clear spells.

Sunday:
North of the Great Glen, mostly cloudy with outbreaks of rain, occasionally heavy across Shetland and later the western Northwest Highlands. Elsewhere dry with warm or very warm sunny spells.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Overnight rain soon clearing Monday then sunny spells and showers. Mainly dry, bright on Tuesday, rain in the northwest later. Patchy rain clearing away on Wednesday, then mainly fine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.